

Research - Policy Partnerships

Are you a researcher interested in seeing your research translated into policy and practice?

Are you a policy professional interested in using evidence to improve your policy making?

Learning Objectives

- Examine the value of collaborative partnerships in producing evidence-informed policy
- Explore methods designed to enhance research and knowledge translation
- Clarify different terminologies used in research and policy making endeavors
- Become familiar with the key processes used in research and policy making

Masterclass Outcomes

- Share experiences with researchers and policy actors in an interactive space
- Develop skills and expertise in collaboration for research-to-policy translation
- Explore opportunities for working across research policy boundaries
- Network and build research and policy partnerships

Who should attend?

- Researchers/Academics interested in research-to-policy translation
- Policy professionals and government/non-government officials interested in evidence informed policy

Course Structure

This is an interactive short course that uses a 'learning by doing' approach. It includes lectures, small group work, self reflection, group discussion, and feedback from participants.

 SAHMRI Auditorium,
North Terrace, Adelaide

Modules and Dates

4 August 2025

Module 1: Concepts and Frameworks

5 August 2025

Module 2: Tools and Skills

25 August 2025

Module 3: Application and Practice

*Please note: Modules 2 and 3 are only available if Module 1 is attended.

Costs:

Module 1: $495

Module 1, 2 & 3: $695

Course Convener

Carmel Williams

Director, Centre for Health in All Policies Research Translation, Health Translation SA and the School of Public Health, University of Adelaide, Associate Professor at Flinders University

Guest Faculty

Fran Baum

Professor, Director, Health Equity, Stretton Institute, University of Adelaide

Lynne Giles

Associate Professor (Biostatistics), School of Public Health, University of Adelaide

Tahna Pettman

Senior Research Fellow, Centre for Social Impact Flinders, College of Business Government and Law, Flinders University

Adam Graycar

Director and Professor of Public Policy, Stretton Institute, The University of Adelaide

Jacqueline Bowden

Professor, College of Medicine and Public Health, Flinders University, and Director, National Centre for Education and Training on Addiction (NCETA)